U. S. Army to Equip All National Guards

Postwar Units Will Get Every Weapon of Regulars.

WASHINGTON.—The war department aims to arm the national guard with virtually every weapon used by the regular army, in contrast with the wooden guns and tanks with which the prewar guard had to train.

Officials of the department's national guard bureau said that the program to equip the state military organizations with weapons, vehicles and personal equipment from the overflowing stocks of the wartime army was well under way.

Harlier this year some National Guard officials had complained of widespread failure by the federal government to get surplus war property and other equipment to the guards.

But bureau officials said that supplies now are being forwarded in quantity, citing as an example a shipment of 601 freight car loads of equipment for California's national guard.

Asked whether the national guards, now entering their first postwar summer training programs, might find themselves back in the situation of the immediate prewar years when "wooden gun" equipment had to be used, army officials said the plan is this:

As elements of the guard organize in major unit size, with the training program patterned accordingly, they will have the full equipment of the regular army.

Standard equipment will include artillery up to 8-inch howitzers and 155-millimeter guns; armor of several categories including light, medium and heavy tanks; all fire-control and detection equipment including the various radar devices; bazooka weapons, and transport and construction equipment such as trucks, jeeps and bulldozers.

The national guard bureau hopes to supply all State units with Garand rifles and carbines, ending the use of the old Springfield rifle types.

Meanwhile, liaison officers attached to the regular army's research and development section will keep the bureau informed of trends in new weapons.

Uncle Sam Says

Everybody knows it pays to buy U. S. Bonds. But not everybody knows how much it pays. By investing as small a sum as $7.50 a week in U. S. Bonds, your savings will be $1,440.84 in ten years. Take savings of $3.75 a week; by 1957, you will have $2,163.45. There are two easy ways to save automatically. Have a regular amount of money set aside from your pay each week for bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. Or, if you're not on a payroll, but you do have a checking account, you can have your bank automatically charge your account for the purchase price of a bond each month.

New Photo-Electric Device Opens the Heart to Study

CHICAGO. — Development of a new machine that records the pumping action of the human heart for a detailed study of any abnormalities was announced in the American Journal of Roentgenology and Radium Therapy.

The instrument is the electrokymograph, or E-K-Y for short.

Dr. George C. Henry, professor of medical physics at Temple university, Philadelphia, in whose medical school the machine was developed, said it would not displace the electrocardiograph but augment its work.

He said the E-K-Y gave "different, but very helpful" information and added there was every indication the new instrument soon would have "practical value" in the study of heart disease.

When a patient stands before an ordinary fluoroscope attached to the machine, a distinct shadow of the beating heart is seen. Using a photo-electric tube, the E-K-Y observes the movements of the edge of the heart shadow, transforming them into changing electric current. The fluctuations in electric current are recorded on a moving strip of paper.

The machine still is undergoing experimental tests.

Village of Widows' Pleads For Survival—'Send Us Men'

VELJUN, YOGOSLAVIA.—"Send us men so that we may bear children," the little, gray-haired woman said, voicing the collective wish of this "village of widows."

Veljun's male population—about 600—was massacred by the pro-Nazi Ustashi late in 1941. The bodies were dumped into a ravine near a little schoolhouse where the slaughter occurred.

Only a handful of old men and boys were left. About a dozen men survived the fight of resistance and the concentration camps. Their return to Veljun explains the few blond, dull-blue babies found here.

The women of Veljun realized that their greatest problem was survival. With peasant realism and patience, they took up the burden of work and responsibility and Veljun became a sort of cooperative matriarchal society.

The women have done a splendid job. They look forward with confidence but they know they never can erase the horrible marks of the wholesale slaughter of their husbands unless new partners arrive to help them.

Series of Escapes Prompts City to Plan for New Jail

ELIZABETHTOWN, ILL.—Another prisoner has fled through the brick wall of Hardin county's jail—a wall spotted with patches of new bricks marking the favorite exits of many freedom-bent prisoners since the jail was erected in this Ohio river town in 1839.

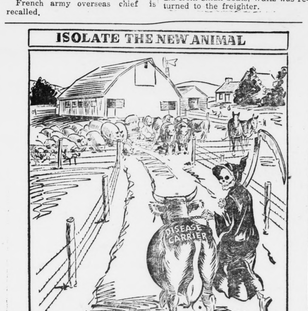
The overnight escape of the man, who later was captured to face a charge of intoxication, was discovered when county commissioners convened in the courthouse with architects to plan a new jail.

Attempt to Swim Ashore Is Cause of Some Consternation

SAN FRANCISCO. — Roy W. Waltz, 30, Middleville, N. Y., refrigeration engineer was so anxious to get ashore that he didn't wait for a boat. He hopped into San Francisco bay, clad only in his underwear, and started swimming.

The result was a "man overboard" alarm which required assistance from the coast guard, a police patrol boat and had guards at Alcatraz prison on the verge of taking pot shots at what they thought was an escaped prisoner.

Finally pulled out of the water near Alcatraz after he had refused aid from small boats, Waltz was returned to the freighter.



John L. Cates, Jr.

John Lloyd Cates, Jr., who passed away at John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore on June 24, was born in Burlington, N. C. twenty-two years ago. Most of his life was spent in Appomattox, where he was affectionately known as "Johnnie." Popular with young and old alike, there was something contagious in his unfailing optimism.His friendly smile and cheery greeting was heart-warming Though suffering all his life from physical handicaps, he inspired others with his sublime courage. Instead of withdrawing from making contacts, he sought and mingled freely with people. He seemed utterly fearless when he knew that he was about to launch out on the Great Adventure.

Funeral services were conducted in Memorial Methodist Church, of which he was a member. The Rev. Floyd M. Lucas, his pastor, was in charge, assisted by the Rev. J. Marshall Walker, pastor of Liberty Baptist Church. Rev. Lucas, in speaking of John, placed emphasis on five points in particular which were descriptive of the place he had in life and his resolve for the future. These points were: community esteem, courage, faith and resignation. The crowd of young and old overflowed the church, showing the high esteem everyone had for him. He was brave and courageous under his handicap; he knew no surrender. His faith in God was his great asset. He never knew no fear. And to climax all of this, he was ready to accept death as an alternative. No better things could be said for anyone.

Walter Dresser rendered "The Rosary," on the piano. John Curtis Caldwell sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," while Mrs. Claude W. Smith played the accompaniment.

Active pallbearers were: Clarence Poe, Alfred Lawson, Clarence Guthrie, Marshall, Wallace and Charles Babcock. Interment took place in the Babcock Cemetery. Many and beautiful were the floral tributes.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Juan B. Seignious, his step-father, J.B. Seignious, and a brother, Edward Scott Cates.

"And the mother gave, in tears and pain,
The flowers she most did love;
She knew she should find them all again
In the fields of light above.

Oh, not in cruelty, not in wrath,
The Reaper came that day;
'Twas an angel visited the green earth,
And took the flowers away."

'Adolf' No Longer Ranks as Popular Name for Babies

BERLIN. — Berlin parents aren't naming their babies Adolf any more.

Hitler's name, a survey of the city's birth registry offices discloses, is in great disrepute at christenings. So are those of other leaders of the Nazi regime. There are few new little Hermanns, Josefs and Roberts.

The most popular names for boys are Peter, Michael, Gerd, Bernd and Joachim (which was a favorite long before the late Joachim von Ribbentrop became Nazi foreign minister).

For girls the leaders are Monika, Karin, Helga, Rosemarie, Ursula and Ingrid.

But there's a new trend toward non-German names. This has brought to the fore such names as Donald, Henry, Andre, Johnny and Dimitri, Lilly, Mary, Claudia and Beatrice.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervousness of such functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like this, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before, Cardui should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

LOOK INTO this. It may help!

Sugar Gets More Flies Than Vinegar, It Seems

PITTSBURGH. — War veteran Thomas E. Coll was saved from at least a fine in a magistrate's court by a letter.

Coll was picked up on a charge of loitering. Magistrate Frank J. Zappala learned that Coll had written a letter praising the efficiency of the police force to several newspapers.

"And how do you feel about the Pittsburgh police now?" Magistrate Zappala asked.

"I still think it's the best," Coll replied.

The loitering charge was dismissed.
